

Title: What happened to panasonic

Generated on: 2026-05-15 07:41:35

Copyright (C) 2026 ARTEMISS SOLAR INFRA. All rights reserved.

For the latest updates and more information, visit our website: <https://artetmiss.us>

With so many manufacturers in the TV market, you might ask: Do they still make Panasonic TVs? In this article, we delve into the journey of Panasonic TVs, their current status in the ...

Panasonic, once revered for its plasma TVs, is giving up on making its own TV sets. Today, it announced that Chinese company Skyworth will take over manufacturing, marketing, and selling ...

According to a report in Nikkei (via FlatpanelsHD), the Japanese electronics manufacturer is considering a sale of its TV business, after company ...

Under the new arrangement, Skyworth takes full responsibility for manufacturing, sales, and logistics across North America and Europe. Panasonic will remain involved in product design, ...

This is reportedly part of a larger strategy where Panasonic will be reorganized into three separate companies, one of which will be called "Smart ...

Panasonic abandons TV manufacturing to Chinese partner Skyworth in 2026, ending Japanese TV production as cost pressures force brand licensing survival.

Panasonic will now share its TV business for North America and Europe with the Chinese company Skyworth, marking the end of an era for the Japanese electronics brand.

Panasonic will hand over parts of its TV operations to Skyworth, marking the end of an era as Japanese electronics groups transfer a business they dominated for decades to Chinese rivals ...

Panasonic Holdings says it signed a partnership agreement to transfer television sales and related operations in the US and Europe to Chinese home appliance maker Skyworth Group.

Panasonic was once the biggest name in televisions, but then it abruptly left the US market. Why did the giant leave the states, and what ...

What happened to panasonic

Web: <https://artetmiss.us>

